Roger J. Paiement Outreach Award 2025

Thanks to the generous support from Ms. Danielle T. Paiement, an award worth up to $1,000 is available to support the participation of graduate students (MSc and PhD candidates), postdoctoral fellows or residents at an international scientific conference to present their research work in the field of Alzheimer's disease or dementia, memory disorders or aging.

Eligibility

To be eligible for this award, you must:

- Be registered in a graduate-level program (i.e., Master's, Doctoral) in an accredited university or a postdoctoral fellow or a resident in Psychiatry presently conducting research.
- Be conducting your research work under the supervision of a principal investigator who is a member of the Douglas Research Centre.
- Be presenting either an oral or a poster presentation at the conference for which support is requested, on a topic related to the focus of this award (Alzheimer's disease or dementia, memory disorders or aging).
- There are no restrictions on the proposed conference, as long as it is a national or international conference, and that it is related to your thesis research area.
- The conference must occur between January 1 and December 31, 2025. The award cannot be used for a different meeting than the one described in the application.
- Only expenses related specifically to the participation in the conference are eligible (e.g., travel, housing and poster production expenses; registration fees). The award will amount to the total of the expenses supported by receipts, up to a maximum of $1,000.

Disbursement

Awardees will receive the award, up to a maximal value of $1,000, after they have submitted:

- The confirmation of conference registration or travel to the conference;
- The receipts for the expenses to be reimbursed for with the award;
- The confirmation from conference organizers that your presentation abstract has been accepted.

To apply for the 2025 competition:

Complete the application form (next pages) and send it by email to Colleen Carter, at the email address colleen.carter@douglas.mcgill.ca, with "Paiement application" as the subject line, before Friday, April 25th, 2025, at 5:00 PM. Late submissions, incomplete forms or submissions that do not fulfill the above criteria will NOT be considered.
